2025–2026
ANNUAL REPORT

DEAR FRIENDS IN CHRIST,

The Church has always been sustained by the faith and generosity of God's people. Throughout every generation, faithful men and women have answered the call to share the blessings they have received, ensuring that the mission of Christ continues to flourish in our parishes, schools, ministries, and communities.

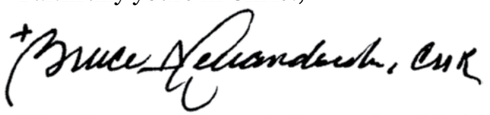

The Catholic Foundation of Rhode Island is a beautiful expression of that enduring stewardship. Through your generosity, we honor the vision of those who came before us, strengthen the ministries that serve our Diocese today, and build a firm foundation for the generations who will follow.

As you read this report, I invite you to reflect not only on what has been accomplished, but on what is being entrusted to us. Every endowed gift, every act of stewardship, and every expression of charity reflects a commitment to the future of our Church and a belief that the Gospel will continue to inspire and transform lives for years to come.

I am deeply grateful for your faithful partnership and your love for the Church. Together, we are preserving a rich legacy of faith while ensuring that the mission of Christ remains vibrant throughout the Diocese of Providence.

May God bless you and your loved ones abundantly, and may He continue to guide the work of the Catholic Foundation of Rhode Island as we faithfully steward the gifts entrusted to us in service of Christ and His Church.

Faithfully yours in Christ,

Most Reverend Bruce A. Lewandowski, C.Ss.R.
Bishop of Providence

DEAR FRIENDS,

Whether established to honor a loved one, support a parish, provide scholarships for Catholic education, or strengthen ministries that serve those in need, every endowed fund reflects a donor's desire to make a lasting impact through faithful stewardship.

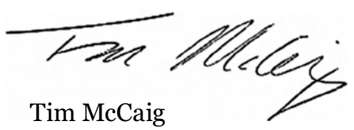

This past year brought meaningful growth and renewed opportunity. Through the generosity of our donors and the careful stewardship of our Board of Advisors and Investment Advisory Committee, the Foundation continues to strengthen the financial future of parishes, schools, and ministries throughout the Diocese of Providence. Today, we steward more than $203 million in charitable assets across 464 funds, providing more than $7.3 million annually in support of Catholic causes throughout Rhode Island.

This year also marked an exciting milestone with the creation of the Catholic School Facilities Fund, a new initiative that will help parish and diocesan schools address critical facility needs while creating safe, welcoming environments where students can learn, grow, and encounter Christ. It reflects our commitment to meeting today's needs while preparing responsibly for the future.

Throughout this report, you will see the impact of faithful stewardship in action, from scholarships that make Catholic education possible to ministries that serve our neighbors in need and endowments established decades ago that continue supporting the Church today. On behalf of our Board of Advisors and staff, thank you for your trust and partnership.

Together, we continue a legacy of faith.

With gratitude,

Tim McCaig
Executive Director,

A Legacy of Welcome

In 2021, Virginia Roberts established the James E. and Virginia C. Roberts Fund for Catholic Education in memory of her late husband, Jim, and in honor of a shared belief that every child should have the opportunity to experience a Catholic education. Created to provide tuition assistance for students in grades K–8, the fund carries forward Jim's generous spirit and a phrase he lived by: "All are welcome."

It was Jim Roberts's favorite phrase — the one his players heard, the one his family heard, and the one that, without anyone quite planning it, became the spirit behind the legacy he and his wife, Virginia, would leave behind. He said it about his teams. He said it about his parish. He meant it about everyone.

Raised in North Smithfield and a member of Our Lady Queen of Martyrs parish, Jim carried his Catholic upbringing through every chapter that followed — through his years at Mount St. Charles and Providence College, through an MBA at the University of Notre Dame, where he met Virginia, and through the decades that followed, raising their son, Dan, within St. Margaret Parish in Rumford. Those who knew Jim describe him the same way: strong, steady, unshakeable — the rock of his family.

Long before he became known for that phrase, Jim was a ballplayer, playing for years while building a career. When his playing days gave way to coaching, he brought every bit of that skill, and his love of the game, to little league fields — first for Dan, then for other youth teams across the community. He coached the way he lived: patient, tough, and completely unwilling to let any kid feel like they didn't belong on his team. Watching young people grow and thrive, on the field and off, was one of the things that brought Jim the most joy.

Jim and Virginia both grew up believing in the power of Catholic education, not as something reserved for a few, but as something meant to be shared. They admired how the Diocese opened its doors wide, to families of every income and children of every faith. That was exactly what "all are welcome" meant to Jim: that every child, no matter what their family could afford, deserved access to an education that would set them up for success.

When Jim passed away in May 2021, Virginia knew where their legacy belonged. She and Jim had always talked about giving back to Catholic education, and she made sure their gift reflected what mattered most to them both. They chose to focus specifically on grades K through 8, because that is where the need is greatest and the support the thinnest — high schools tend to draw more donors and more attention, while elementary and middle schools draw far less. For families of limited means, that gap can be the difference between a child attending a Catholic school and not attending one at all — building a strong foundation when it's needed most.

The endowment fund was built to grow, so that as it does, more children will have the chance to attend the kind of Catholic school that can shape one's life. It stands as a living tribute to a man who believed everyone deserves a seat at the table.

Creating the endowment was made possible with guidance from the Catholic Foundation, and from Tim McCaig in particular, who helped turn a deeply personal wish into something lasting and well-structured. For anyone thinking about their own legacy, Virginia hopes this story offers a simple message: an endowment doesn't just honor the past. It keeps giving, quietly and steadily, long after we're gone.

All are welcome, always.

The Catholic Foundation of RI is grateful to Virginia Roberts for sharing Jim's story and the legacy they created together.

PRESERVING OUR CATHOLIC HERITAGE

A Gift That Continues to Give

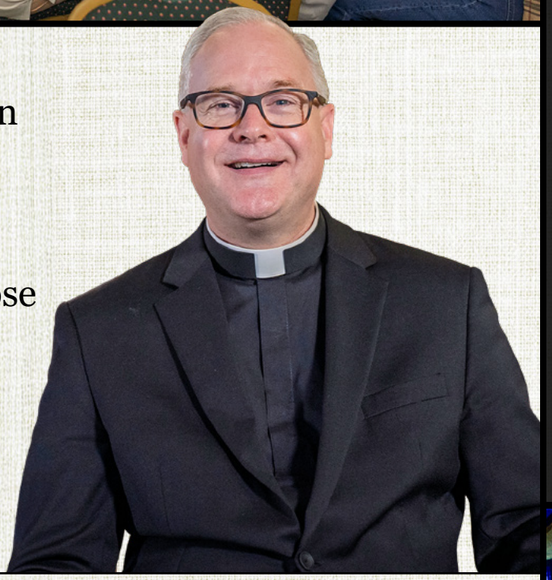

For one parishioner of St. Augustine Church, faith was woven into the fabric of her life. She was a faithful communicant and a member of the parish Rosary and Altar Society. When she chose to leave a bequest to St. Augustine Parish, she created a lasting expression of the faith and generosity that had guided her for so many years.

After her passing, St. Augustine Parish chose to honor her generosity through two permanent endowments at the Catholic Foundation of Rhode Island: the FLORENCE M. SHERIDAN PERMANENT ENDOWMENT FUND FOR ST. AUGUSTINE PARISH and the FLORENCE M. SHERIDAN PERMANENT ENDOWMENT FUND FOR ST. AUGUSTINE SCHOOL. Together, the funds reflect her deep dedication to St. Augustine and ensure that her generosity will continue to serve the parish and school for generations to come.

More than 15 years later, these endowments continue to grow. Their annual distributions have grown as well, providing an increasingly meaningful source of support for St. Augustine Parish and School. The funds have helped cover the cost of a major elevator project and parking lot upgrades, both of which have transformed access to the parish. These accessibility improvements have expanded opportunities for parishioners to attend Mass and participate in parish gatherings downstairs. The funds have also helped address much needed HVAC upgrades within the church.

Each year, the endowments provide resources for maintenance and other important projects that might otherwise fall to the parish offertory. The needs of a parish will change over time, but these funds give St. Augustine the ability to respond. The projects they help make possible today will eventually give way to new priorities, new needs, and new opportunities to serve the parish community.

> “The impact our generosity can have on the spiritual lives of others is something we can never underestimate. I am grateful to God for those whose thoughtfulness and sacrifice have made St. Augustine’s Parish what it is today.”
>
> FR. CHRISTOPHER MAHAR
> PASTOR

The story of these two endowments is a powerful example of what a bequest can make possible. One parishioner’s decision to remember her parish in her estate has already helped transform the parish in meaningful ways. The gift will continue to give St. Augustine the resources to meet whatever needs come next.

It also invites each of us to consider the future of the parish we call home. What would you want to preserve for the next generation? What ministry, school, or parish community has been important in your life? Establishing an endowment or remembering your parish in your estate can be a meaningful way to help ensure that the places and ministries we cherish have the resources to thrive in the years ahead.

Through the Catholic Foundation of Rhode Island, parishioners can create endowments that provide lasting resources for the Catholic causes they care about. A gift today, or a bequest planned for the future, can become a source of strength for a parish for generations to come.

STRENGTHENING CATHOLIC EDUCATION:

The EAGLE Program Takes Flight

When Saint Joseph School in West Warwick envisioned a new way to support students with diverse learning needs, the Catholic Foundation of Rhode Island saw the potential immediately.

Rev. Gregory P. Stowe, Pastor and Mrs. Julie Capirchio, Principal shared a vision that was simple and significant. Create a Catholic school environment where every child could be included, challenged, and supported while maintaining high expectations and honoring the dignity of every student.

That vision became the EAGLE Program, Educating all Abilities in a God-centered Learning Environment.

A new program like EAGLE needed more than a good idea. It needed funding, time, and people willing to believe in its potential. The Catholic Foundation stepped in with an investment designed to help Saint Joseph School turn that vision into reality.

The Foundation provided three years of pilot funding through an endowment fund established to support children and education. The funding was intentionally structured as a phased investment, giving Saint Joseph School time to build the program, demonstrate its impact, and establish a strong foundation for the future.

As the program took shape, Dr. Shannon McMahon played a central role in bringing the vision to life. She helped develop the program, worked closely with teachers and families, and ensured that support for students became an integrated part of the school community.

EAGLE is not a separate classroom. Students remain part of their general education classrooms while receiving the support they need. This can include classroom support, small group instruction, targeted academic intervention, executive functioning support, and social-emotional resources.

> "Our EAGLE program supports students with mild-to-moderate learning disabilities, helping them build confidence, develop their skills, and soar."
> PRINCIPAL

At its heart, EAGLE reflects a distinctly Catholic belief: every child is made in the image and likeness of God. The program seeks not simply to include students with diverse learning needs, but to help them discover their strengths, build confidence, and become advocates for themselves.

The three-year pilot period has now concluded, and the EAGLE Program is doing well as an established part of Saint Joseph School. The Catholic Foundation is proud to have played a part in helping bring this vision to life.

What began as an idea has helped change the landscape of education at Saint Joseph School. Its impact will continue to reach students, families, educators, and the broader Catholic school community for years to come.

This is what strengthening the Church can look like. It means believing in an idea, investing in its potential, and helping create the conditions for it to grow.

The Catholic Foundation of Rhode Island is honored to partner with those who are imagining new ways to carry the Church's mission into the next generation. Through endowments and thoughtful investment in new initiatives, we can help today's good ideas become tomorrow's lasting impact.

STRENGTHENING TODAY'S MISSIONVV

FAITH IN ACTION:

A Lasting Impact in Warren

When the leadership of St. Casimir Parish decided to establish an endowment, they had a lasting vision in mind. They wanted to create a resource that would support charitable works in Warren for years to come.

Today, that vision is becoming a reality.

Through the St. Casimir Endowment Fund, the Catholic Foundation of Rhode Island recently provided a $10,000 grant to support two important ministries at St. Mary of the Bay Parish in Warren. The grant provided $5,000 to the parish food pantry and $5,000 to its outreach ministry.

Together, these ministries provide practical assistance and hope to people in need. The food pantry helps provide nutritious food to local families, while the outreach ministry assists people facing urgent needs such as rent, utilities, and medical expenses.

What makes this support especially meaningful is where it began. St. Casimir Parish leaders chose to create an endowment because they wanted their generosity to extend beyond a single gift or moment in time. They wanted to strengthen charitable work in their community for generations.

Now, that vision is at work.

The St. Casimir Endowment Fund provides an ongoing source of support for charitable ministries in Bristol County. Each grant represents another opportunity for the Church to respond to people in need and put faith into action.

This is the power of an endowment. A decision made years ago continues to make a difference in the lives of people today.

New Funds, New Opportunities

Every endowment begins with a decision to invest in something that matters and help ensure it continues for generations to come. This year, 14 new endowments were established through the Catholic Foundation of Rhode Island, each reflecting a unique commitment to the life and mission of the Church.

REVEREND CHARLES H. MARTELL AND MS. FLORENCE M. MARTELL PERMANENT ENDOWMENT FUND

THE RUDOLPH E. AND LUCILLE M. PETRUCCI MEMORIAL ENDOWMENT FUND FOR CHARITY

Together, these new funds represent generosity with a long view. They will provide resources for Catholic parishes, schools, ministries, and causes today while creating support for the future. We are grateful to the individuals, families, and organizations whose generosity is helping strengthen the Church and sustain its mission for generations to come.

BUILDING THE FUTURE:

Catholic School Facilities Fund

With the support of Bishop Bruce A. Lewandowski, C.Ss.R., the Catholic Foundation of Rhode Island has launched a new initiative entitled the Catholic School Facilities Fund.

The initiative grew out of a thorough study of buildings and infrastructure across Catholic schools in the Diocese of Providence. The study found that a majority of schools had some type of facility or infrastructure need.

Catholic schools compete with public schools on many fronts, including cost, quality of teaching, curriculum, and the learning environment itself. While fundraising for Catholic schools has understandably focused heavily on tuition assistance, the Board of Advisors recognized that access to Catholic education is only part of the equation. Schools also need safe, functional, and welcoming facilities where that education can take place.

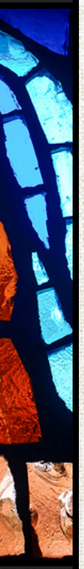

The Catholic School Facilities Fund was created to begin addressing that need.

The fund is designed to support parish and diocesan schools, including diocesan high schools, by helping address critical facility needs. All parish and diocesan schools within the Diocese of Providence were invited to apply.

The fund was created with $360,000. Of that, $300,000 was established as an endowment to provide funding for years to come, while $60,000 was designated for initial grants in years one and two. In its inaugural year, the fund will distribute $30,000 in grant support, with the expectation that funding will grow over time through continued investment.

The Catholic School Facilities Fund represents an investment not only in school buildings, but in the mission that takes place within them. By helping schools improve their facilities, the Foundation is helping create environments where students can learn, grow in faith, and thrive.

As of September, a total of 11 schools submitted applications with a combined requested need of $207,000. While the initial grant will only assist with a small portion of overall need, we believe this is a first step in the right direction. Continued growth of the fund will rely on contributions from donors.

A NEW BEGINNING:

The Hope & Heritage Society

The Hope and Heritage Society honors individuals and families who have demonstrated their commitment to the future of the Catholic Church in Rhode Island by establishing an endowed fund with the Catholic Foundation of Rhode Island or by making a planned gift through their estate plans.

Membership in the Hope and Heritage Society includes those who have created a permanent endowment during their lifetime to support the ministries, parishes, schools, and charitable works they cherish, as well as those who have remembered the Catholic Foundation of Rhode Island in their estate plans through a bequest, beneficiary designation, charitable trust, charitable gift annuity, or other planned gift.

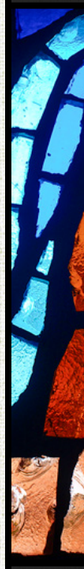

By establishing an endowed fund or including the Catholic Foundation of Rhode Island in your estate plans, members of the Hope and Heritage Society help strengthen the future of the Catholic Church and Catholic ministries throughout Rhode Island for generations to come.

Through your endowed fund or planned gift, you can support the causes and ministries that reflect your deepest values; helping to sustain faith formation, Catholic education, charitable outreach, parish life, vocations, and other important works of the Church.

On behalf of the Catholic Foundation of Rhode Island, we invite you to consider membership in the Hope and Heritage Society as a meaningful expression of your faith, stewardship, and personal legacy.

Establishing your own endowment may be more accessible than you think. You choose the name and the Catholic cause you wish to support. The gift remains invested, while a portion of its earning provides annual support for the purpose you choose, helping your generosity continue for generations.

Some may choose to establish an endowment with gifts during their lifetime, while others decide it best to fund the endowment through their estate plan after their passing. Each option allows you to put a plan in place for a cause that matters deeply to you, knowing your generosity will continue beyond your lifetime.
